Abstract 5

Part I — Foundations 6

Part II — Business Overview and Governance 8

Part III — The Reasoning Model 11

Part IV — The Curriculum Model 14

Part V — The Five Levels 16

Part VI — The CEIW Argumentation Framework 24

Part VII — The Digital Reasoning Engine 27

Part VIII — Trainer Toolkit 29

PART B · TRAINER TOOLKIT 33

1. Rubric calibration session (3 hours) 34

2. Lesson observation (fidelity) checklist 37

3. Teacher certification checklist 40

4. Common teaching errors and coaching repairs 42

PART C · CALIBRATION EXEMPLAR BANK 44

1. Teacher Calibration Guide 45

2. Level 1 Exemplars — Foundation (Pre-A1 / A1) 47

3. Level 2 Exemplars — Early Reasoner (A1 / A2) 51

4. Level 3 Exemplars — Developing Analyst (A2 / B1) 55

5. Level 4 Exemplars — Academic Builder (B1 / B2) 60

6. Level 5 Exemplars — Advanced Thinker (B2 / C1) 67

7. Cross-Level Patterns: What Each Level Adds 75

What you get in this pack

The complete manual for your lead trainer, the four instruments that keep every teacher at the same standard, and a bank of scored examples for calibration.

76	printable A4 pages This licensed PDF in three parts, with a contents page.
8	manual parts Foundations, governance, the reasoning model, the curriculum model, the five levels, CEIW argumentation, the digital record and the trainer's toolkit.
4	trainer instruments A 3-hour calibration session, a lesson observation checklist, a certification checklist and a table of common errors with coaching repairs.
40	scored examples Eight per level, each with the band, the reasoning behind it and the next move, for calibration sessions.
3	editable Google Docs The manual, the toolkit and the exemplar bank in the buyer's Drive folder.

Core texts are described by type: each school chooses and supplies its own texts. No published book is named, quoted or included.

Licence. One centre or school (one site), to train its own teachers. Single-buyer licence. No resale, sharing, uploading or redistribution. © 2026–2027 WorldWise Learning and JurassicEnglish.com.

Part III — The Reasoning Model

Module 9 · The Thinking Cycle™

The Thinking Cycle™ is the cognitive engine of Jurassic English™. It is a four-phase progression — Analyze, Evaluate, Justify, Reflect — through which every literary text at every level is processed. It is not a lesson plan; it is the underlying cognitive architecture that the Four-Lesson Cycle (Part IV) instantiates as a teaching sequence.

The trainer must understand and convey that the Thinking Cycle™ is not optional, not adaptable in sequence, and not subject to teacher preference. A lesson that begins with Justify before completing Analyze and Evaluate is not a Jurassic English™ lesson. The phases must run in order, and each must be visibly completed before the next begins.

Phase	Cognitive Demand	Classroom Manifestation
Analyze	Surface, deconstruct, name	Vocabulary archaeology, syntactic excavation, narrative mapping
Evaluate	Weigh, compare, contest	Socratic seminar, divergence map, competing-interpretation pair work
Justify	Construct a defended position	CEIW writing, oral defence, position statement
Reflect	Connect to self, society, ecology	Ecological exit, metacognitive self-audit, contemporary application

Module 10 · The Four-Level Reasoning Rubric

Every Jurassic English™ lesson specifies a target Reasoning Level for its primary objective. The Reasoning Rubric is the framework's instrument for measuring cognitive progression. It maps directly to Bloom's Taxonomy and is used by trainers, educators, and the DRE to grade student work consistently across all five levels.

Reasoning Level	Cognitive Move	Bloom Mapping
Level 1	Recall — naming, retrieving, identifying	Remember
Level 2	Causality — connecting cause to effect	Understand
Level 3	Application — using a concept in a new context	Apply
Level 4	Evaluation — weighing competing interpretations	Analyze
Level 5	Synthesis — constructing an independent position	Evaluate
Level 6	Global Impact — ecocentric, systemic, temporal reasoning	Create

Reasoning Levels are not equivalent to grade levels. A Level 1 (Foundation) student is regularly pushed to Reasoning Level 2 and 3 within the boundaries of oral discourse. A Level 5 (Advanced) student is expected to operate consistently at Reasoning Levels 5 and 6. The trainer must teach educators to set Reasoning Level targets per lesson, not per student tier — every lesson plan in the framework explicitly names its target Reasoning Level.

Module 11 · Regulation-Before-Reasoning

Regulation-Before-Reasoning is the structural precondition for higher-order cognition in the Jurassic English™ classroom. Every lesson at every level begins with a physiological regulation activity. This is not warm-up time. It is not optional. It is the architectural foundation of the cognitive work that follows.

Blueprint v3.5 systematically integrates explicit instruction in interoception — the internal physiological sense that allows learners to notice bodily sensations and translate them into emotional meaning. Research demonstrates that 8–10 weeks of targeted interoceptive practice significantly elevates students' capacity to self-regulate, reducing off-task behaviour and increasing engagement with complex tasks. For neurodivergent learners — students with ASD, ADHD, or trauma backgrounds — the regulation phase is the single intervention that makes the rest of the framework accessible.

Regulation Protocols by Level Band

Level Band	Primary Protocol	Duration
Foundation & Development (L1–L2)	Bilateral tapping, sensory anchoring with natural objects, movement	3–5 minutes
Expansion (L3)	Silent observation, mindful breathing, transition to self-initiation	3–4 minutes
Mastery & Advanced (L4–L5)	Metacognitive preparation, ecological anchoring, interoceptive body-mapping	2–4 minutes

> Trainer protocol: every cohort training day must itself begin with a regulation phase. If you are training adults to teach the framework but you do not yourself enact the framework, you are not training — you are lecturing.

Module 12 · Accountable Talk

Accountable Talk is the discourse architecture of the Jurassic English™ classroom. It comprises three core moves that begin as teacher language at Foundation and Development levels and progressively become student language by Expansion (Level 3) and beyond. By Level 5, students are expected to deploy these moves independently, without prompting, in every Socratic seminar.

Move	Teacher / Student Language	Cognitive Function
Marking	"What [name] just said is important — can you say more?"	Elevates a contribution and signals intellectual value
Pressing	"But have you considered…?"	Forces a student to deepen reasoning and confront alternatives

SAMPLE · jurassicenglish.com/products

Move	Teacher / Student Language	Cognitive Function
Extending Accountability	"Can anyone add to that with evidence from the text?"	Distributes intellectual responsibility across the class

The trainer audits Accountable Talk by counting moves. In a calibrated Level 3 lesson, no fewer than three Pressing moves should be heard during the Strata phase. In a calibrated Level 5 seminar, at least 70% of the moves should originate from students rather than from the educator. These are diagnostic numbers — when they fall, the lesson has decayed below fidelity, and the trainer must intervene.

2. Lesson observation (fidelity) checklist

Use for every classroom observation, demo lesson and termly check. One observation takes 60–90 minutes including notes. Do not certify a teacher from a single observation; look for a pattern across three.

Restatement-as-interpretation flagged (L3+)

2.4 Inclusive access

Item	Y/N	Notes
More than one way to take in the text (audio, visual, summary alongside the original)
More than one way to respond (oral, written, drawn, recorded)
Engagement supports (regulation, predictable rhythm, choice within structure)
Thinking demand kept high for every student
Documented support plans followed

2.5 Student talk

Item	Y/N	Notes
Students cite the text (level-appropriate)
Students hedge (L3+)
Students name warrants (L4+)
Students deal with counter-evidence (L4+)
Teacher avoids over-scaffolding
