What you get in this pack

Everything a parent needs to read with an 8–10 year old for four weeks and help them back up ideas with evidence from the story.

34	printable A4 pages Parent guide, two illustrated storybooks, their activity pages and a progress chart.
1	parent guide, English and Vietnamese How to read together when your child reads alone, the four thinking questions in everyday words, a fifteen-minute daily routine and what to do when it feels hard.
2	original storybooks The Bell That Rang Too Early and The Rain on Platform Seven: six illustrated pages each, with a talk question on every page.
8	activity pages For each story: word fossils, put the story in order, think it through, and an I can check.
1	progress chart and certificate Colour a box each reading day; write down your child's best evidence sentences.

Every story is a Jurassic English original, also free to read with pictures and read-to-me audio at books.jurassicenglish.com. No published-book text is included.

Parent guide

Welcome

This pack is for grown-ups who read with a child aged 8–10 at home. At this age your child can read much of the story on their own. Your job changes: you become the listener and the question-asker, not the teacher. You need ten to fifteen minutes and the two stories in this book.

Each story is a Jurassic English original. You can read it here on paper, or open it in the free online reader at books.jurassicenglish.com, where every page has its pictures, read-to-me audio and a question.

At Level 2 the big step is evidence. Your child learns to say what they think, why, and where in the story they found it: "I think … because on page 3 it says …".

How to read together

When	What you do	About
Before	Read the cover line together. Ask: "What do you predict? What clue made you think that?"	1 minute
During	Your child reads one page aloud. You ask the Talk together question. Ask: "Which sentence tells you?"	8 minutes
After	Ask one of the four thinking questions below. Ask for a page number.	3 minutes
Finish	Colour one box on the progress chart.	1 minute

Three small rules

1. Let your child read. Help only with a word after they have tried it twice.
2. Ask "where does it say that?" A page number turns an opinion into evidence.
3. Different answers can both be right if each has a clue from the story.

The four thinking questions

Every Jurassic English lesson follows the same four steps, the Jurassic Thinking Cycle. Here they are in everyday words.

Step	Ask your child	Listen for
Look closely (Analyze)	"What happened, and how do you know? Show me the sentence."	A detail with a page number
What matters? (Evaluate)	"Was it fair? Was it a good choice? What is your view?"	A clear view, even "not sure"
Say why (Justify)	"Why? Use because, and give a clue from the story."	"I think … because on page … it says …"
What did we learn? (Reflect)	"When could this happen in real life? What would you do?"	A link to their own world

A strong answer at Level 2 has three parts: a view, a reason, and a clue.

The fifteen-minute routine

Read one story for two weeks.

Day	Week 1	Week 2
Monday	Your child reads the whole story. Talk together on every page.	Your child retells the story in their own words.
Tuesday	Read again. Do Word fossils.	Read again. Ask the four thinking questions.
Wednesday	Pages 1–3: find one clue on each page.	Think it through activity.
Thursday	Pages 4–6: what caused what?	Listen in the online reader, then talk about the ending.
Friday	Put the story in order.	I can check, then colour the progress chart.

Four weeks, two stories: The Bell That Rang Too Early, then The Rain on Platform Seven.

When it feels hard

- My child guesses without a clue. Say: "Good idea. Now let's find the sentence that shows it."
- My child says "I don't know". Offer two choices: "Was it fair, or not fair?" Then ask why.
- My English is not strong. Ask the questions in Vietnamese and let your child answer in English if they can. The thinking is what matters.
- My child reads too fast. Ask them to read one page again "like a detective", looking for one clue.

What you will see

After a few weeks most children start to give reasons without being asked, point to the page that proves their idea, and notice that a first guess can be wrong. Keep the activity pages; they show how your child's reasoning grows.

Story: The Bell That Rang Too Early

A bell rings before the market is ready. Pavi thinks she knows who did it—but the clues point somewhere else.

> Read it on screen too: books.jurassicenglish.com/book.html#the-bell-that-rang-too-early (pictures, read-to-me audio and the questions on each page).

Page 1 · Market morning

Every Saturday, Pavi helped her uncle at the small town market. Her job was to ring a brass bell when the stalls were ready.

Ren, the new boy, liked to draw. He drew a fish stall, a flower stall and Uncle's mountain of hats.

'You need a real job,' said Pavi. 'We all have to be useful.'

Ren closed his sketchbook. He sat behind the hats.

> Talk together. What does Ren do after Pavi says, 'We all have to be useful'?
> How might Ren feel? Identify a clue; the story does not directly name his feeling.

Pavi checked the stalls. Flowers: ready. Fish: ready. Hats: nearly ready.

Then the bell rang. People came through the gate. A basket fell. Uncle ran to help.

'Ren!' Pavi said. 'You wanted a job. Did you ring it?'

Ren shook his head. 'I was here.'

Pavi looked at his closed sketchbook. That did not prove where he had been.

> Talk together. What happens when the bell rings too early?
> Does wanting a job prove Ren rang the bell? Explain the difference between a guess and evidence.

Word fossils

Dig up each word. Say it, read its meaning, then find it on its page. Draw it or write your own sentence.

Word	What it means	Page
awning	a cloth roof that gives shade	3
collected	gathered in one place	3
prove	show with evidence that something is true	2
blamed	said someone caused a problem before checking	4
visitors	people who come to see a place	5
answers	replies to a question	6

awning: _____ collected: _____
