Parent guide

Welcome

This pack is for grown-ups who read with a child aged 4–8 at home. You do not need to be an English teacher, and you do not need perfect English. You need ten minutes, a quiet corner and the three stories in this book.

Each story is a Jurassic English original. You can read it here on paper, or open it in the free online reader at books.jurassicenglish.com, where every page has its pictures, read-to-me audio and a question.

Our goal is simple: your child learns to say what they think, and why, in English. "I think … because …" is the most important sentence in this pack.

How to read together

When	What you do	About
Before	Look at the cover together. Ask: "What do you see? What might happen?"	1 minute
During	Read one page. Point at the picture. Ask the Talk together question under it. Wait.	6 minutes
After	Ask one of the four thinking questions below. Praise the reason, not just the answer.	2 minutes
Finish	Colour one box on the progress chart. Stop while it is still fun.	1 minute

Three small rules

1. Wait five seconds after a question. Silence is thinking time.
2. Any answer is a start. If your child points, draws or answers in Vietnamese, say it back in simple English: "Yes, Sami is tired."
3. Ask for "because". "Why do you think that?" turns an answer into thinking.

The four thinking questions

Every Jurassic English lesson follows the same four steps, the Jurassic Thinking Cycle. Here they are in everyday words. Use one or two after each reading.

Step	Ask your child	Listen for
Look closely (Analyze)	"What do you see on this page? Show me."	A detail from the words or the picture
What matters? (Evaluate)	"Was that a good choice? Yes, no or not sure?"	A choice, not a "right" answer
Say why (Justify)	"Why do you think so? Say because."	"I think … because …"
What did we learn? (Reflect)	"When do you feel like that? What would you do?"	A link to their own life

There is no wrong opinion. A good answer is any answer with a reason from the story.

The ten-minute routine

Read one story for two weeks. Children love to hear the same story again, and each time they notice more.

Day	Week 1	Week 2
Monday	Read the whole story. Talk together on every page.	Your child "reads" the pictures to you.
Tuesday	Read again. Do Word fossils.	Read again. Ask the four thinking questions.
Wednesday	Pages 1–3 slowly. Act out one page.	Think it through activity.
Thursday	Pages 4–6 slowly. Draw a favourite page.	Read in the online reader with read-to-me audio.
Friday	Put the story in order.	I can check, then colour the progress chart.

Six weeks, three stories: Mina and the Midnight Drum, then The Lantern With Two Handles, then Lina and the Orchard Map.

When it feels hard

- My child won't answer. Answer first yourself: "I think Mina feels sad because her smile stops." Then ask, "What do you think?"
- My child only says one word. Add to it: "Drum. Yes, the big drum is loud."
- My English is not strong. Use the read-to-me audio in the online reader, and ask the questions in Vietnamese. Thinking matters more than the language.
- My child is tired. Stop. One happy page is better than six hard ones.

What you will see

After a few weeks most children start to point at clues on their own, use "because" without being asked, and talk about feelings: theirs and the characters'. Keep the activity pages; they show how your child's thinking grows.

Story: Mina and the Midnight Drum

Mina loves the big drum. Her friend Sami needs a quieter sound. Can they find a song for both of them?

> Read it on screen too: books.jurassicenglish.com/book.html#mina-and-the-midnight-drum (pictures, read-to-me audio and the questions on each page).

Page 1 · The big drum

Mina has a small drum.

BOOM! Her aunt plays the big drum.

It is the Midnight Drum. It will play at the town party.

Mina smiles. ‘Can I play?’

> Talk together. Who plays the big drum first?
> How does Mina feel? Show a face or point to a clue.

Mina hits the drum.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

Her friend Sami puts his hands over his ears.

'Too big,' he says.

Mina stops. Her smile stops too.

> Talk together. What does Sami do when Mina hits the drum?
> Can Mina be happy to play while Sami needs a quieter sound?

Word fossils

Dig up each word. Say it, read its meaning, then find it on its page. Draw it or write your own sentence.

Word	What it means	Page
drum	You hit it to make music.	1
ears	You hear with your ears.	2
loud	A big, strong sound.	3
soft	Gentle and quiet.	4
tired	You need to rest or sleep.	5
tomorrow	The day after today.	6
