What Is the Four-Lesson Cycle?

A Repeating Instructional Architecture

The Jurassic English™ curriculum organises ALL literary study around the Four-Lesson Cycle — applied to every core text across all five levels.

This ensures the full Thinking Cycle™ is completed for every piece of literature studied.

The Thinking Cycle™

Analyze	Evaluate
Justify	Reflect

The cycle is not a formula — it is a scaffold. Teachers adapt activities, prompts, and CEIW structures to the age, CEFR level, and textual complexity at their tier. The architecture remains constant; the intellectual demand scales.

The Four-Lesson Cycle at a Glance

Excavation — Analyze

Deconstruct vocabulary, surface narrative, and text architecture. Students become fossil-hunters: what is buried in the language?

Strata — Evaluate

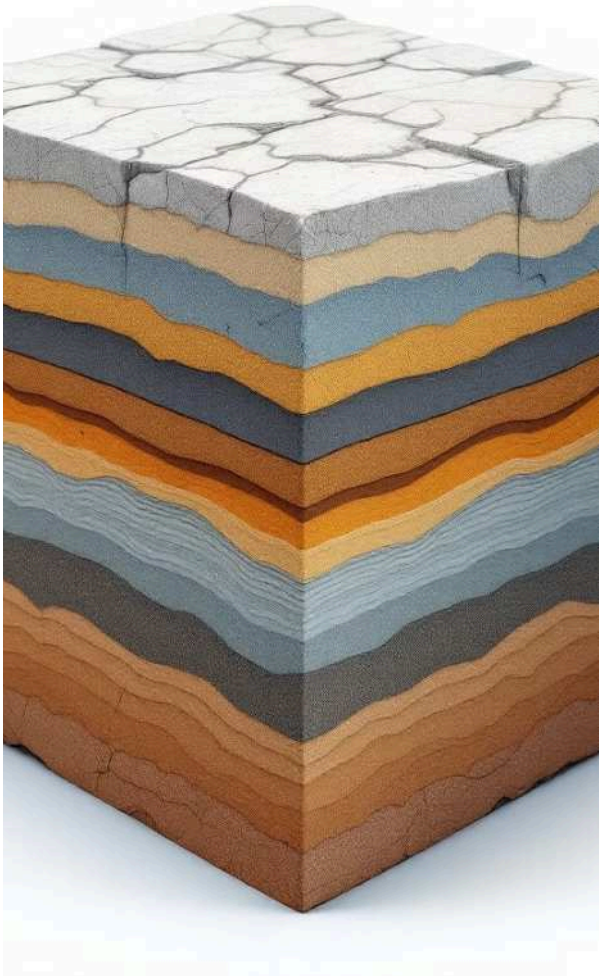

Assess character motives, moral dilemmas, and competing interpretations. Students examine the geological layers of meaning.

The Justification — Justify

Construct a formal CEIW argument anchored in text evidence. Students build the warrant — the logical bridge between claim and evidence.

The Impact — Reflect

Connect the text to self, society, and the ecological world. Students consider the living consequence of the fossil record.

1. Syllabus by level

Level 1 — Foundation

Field	Detail
Typical age	5–7
CEFR	Pre-A1 / A1
Purpose	First stories, first thinking. Children hear and read real picture books, learn calm attention, and say their first claims aloud and on paper.
Outcomes	(1) Retell a known story in order; (2) give a one-sentence claim with "because"; (3) take part in the lesson routine calmly.
Unit themes	Family, school, weather, animals, daily routines, identity, local stories
Skills	Listening, oral retell, phonemic awareness, sentence-level reading, drawing and speaking
CEIW depth	Claim only (spoken or one written sentence)
Portfolio	1 retelling and 1 claim card per text; 1 audio recording per term
Assessment	Bands (Emerging / Developing / Secure / Advanced) on Claim
Promise to parents	Your child reads real stories, produces their first thinking, and grows confident taking part.
Exit	Retells a known story; gives a one-sentence claim with "because"; takes part calmly in the routine

Level 2 — Development (Early Reasoner)

Field	Detail
Typical age	7–9
CEFR	A1+ / A2
Purpose	From stories to evidence. Children move from telling what happened to citing the text to support what they think.
Outcomes	(1) Write Claim + Evidence paragraphs (3–5 sentences) citing the text; (2) retell aloud with at least one reference to the text; (3) use the full lesson routine with support.
Unit themes	Community, fairness, choices, belonging, environments
Skills	Past simple, connectives, describing words, opinion phrases, reading short real texts

Promise to parents	Your child learns to support every idea with evidence from the text — a habit, not a test trick.

Level 3 — Expansion (Developing Analyst)

Field	Detail
Typical age	10–12
CEFR	A2+ / B1
Purpose	From opinion to interpretation. Children learn to add meaning, not just repeat the evidence — the most important move in the programme.
Outcomes	(1) Write a CEI response where the interpretation adds meaning; (2) defend an interpretation aloud with evidence; (3) use hedging accurately (may, might, suggests, perhaps).
Unit themes	Citizenship, sustainability, choice and consequence, perspective

CEIW depth	Claim + Evidence + Interpretation
Portfolio	Interpretation folder: 2 multi-paragraph CEI responses, 1 paired-text response and 1 spoken piece per term
Assessment	Bands on Claim, Evidence, Interpretation
Promise to parents	Your child learns to say what the evidence means, not just what it says.
